LON

Are you considering your next move into education and thinking of a cool, vibrant, developing area to work? Maybe you've just moved to London and considering settling in North West. NW London has some of the most sought after residential addresses and a vibrant, eclectic culture whose appeal spans all socio-economic groups. one of the reasons why this part of the capital is the BEST place to work. So what are the highlights of living in North West London? What are the attractions for teachers and support staff to live and work in NW London?

WESTMINSTER - VICTORIA, MAYFAIR, KNIGHTSBRIDGE, PIMLICO

01

Big Ben and The Houses of Parliament are two of the most recognisable landmarks in the world. The buildings offer a genuine sense of history and yet you can work in schools among them as well. The London borough of Westminster is located in central London, and over 28 million people visit Westminster every year. Westminster is an incredibly sought-after area to live and work Westminster has three Underground stations: Westminster, St James's Park and Victoria, so schools in this area can suit teachers from all over London and the South East.

02

CAMDEN - KENTISH TOWN, CHALK FARM, HIGHGATE

Camden is host to the worlds famous cast of colourful characters and boisterous music venues. These days an organic supermarket and Gordon Ramsay restaurant have nudged their way onto the scene. Its buzzing canal side markets and quirky outlook mean Camden Town, and latterly Kentish Town, will never lose their edge, but these areas now attract families and City professionals as well as artists, students and musicians.. there are great schools and is a great place for teachers to work and play.

BELSIZE PARK, WEST HAMPSTEAD, ST JOHNS WOOD, SWISS COTTAGE, GOSPEL OAK, HOLBORN

With the landscaped gardens of Regent's Park, views of London from Primrose Hill, and the wilds, ponds and pools of Hampstead Heath, North West London boasts some of the Capital's most loved parkland. Meanwhile, cultural and sporting hotspots abound. Here you'll find Lord's Cricket Ground and London Zoo, as well as the Everyman Cinema, Hampstead Theatre and Regent's Park's beautiful mosque and Islamic Cultural Centre. There are attractive local high streets and excellent schools which attracts high calibre teachers, support staff, families, professional couples and celebrities, and St John's Wood in particular has an international appeal.

EALING - ACTON, GREENFORD, HANWELL, NORTHOLT, SOUTHALL, NORTHFIELDS

Dubbed 'Queen of the Suburbs' in the 1880s, Ealing straddled the border between city and country and provided a semi rural retreat for wealthy Londoners. Ealing locals have embraced the village way of life and formed a self contained community, with their own summer festivals, galleries and theatre and arts groups. Part of the community's strength comes from the longevity of its residents, as once house hunters have moved to Ealing they tend to stay. Ealing is also home to the largest Sikh temple outside India.

TRANSPORT LINKS IN NORTH WEST

The North West of London is a well connected part of London. The arrival of Crossrail in 2018 is likely to increase and accelerate opportunities in the area. Travelling across London with an additional line will be easier than ever. Also with Victoria, Northern Line, Metropolitan Line, Circle, Piccadilly, Bakerloo, Jubilee and District, plus the use of National Rail and overground hubs such as Victoria, Euston, Kings Cross, Willesden Junction and Marylebone - getting around the North West has become much easier.
